LIVING TRUST SEMINARS

For those who don't yet have a Trust, but also those who have one and may need to review and update it! Both the public and our existing clients are invited - - and please bring your family or friends!

NOTE: All of our seminars listed below are now being held in-person. If you, or someone you know, would like to attend a seminar, but cannot attend a live one, please send us an e-mail so we can explore other options.

(Also note: We may provide services to anyone residing in California without them having to travel to our offices.)

When people say that, what they usually mean is something deeper. They mean, "I love my family. I do not want them burdened, confused, stressed, or overwhelmed when I am gone. I want to make things easier for them."

And that desire to spare your loved ones unnecessary stress may result in one of the most meaningful gifts you can leave behind — a proper estate plan.

Most people think estate planning is only about having the right legal documents in place. Of course, that matters. But there is another part of planning that is often overlooked: making sure the people you love can actually find what they need, understand what they are looking at, and know what to do next.

That does not require a complicated system. It just takes some basic organization and a little follow-through.

After working so hard to provide for your family, it would be a tragedy if you were unable to pass on the fruits of your labor after your passing. Unfortunately, there are plenty of mistakes that can reduce the amount of an estate and threaten your family's future. These simple errors happen far too often, usually because people do not have accurate estate planning information.

You Can Avoid Common Estate Planning Mistakes

When you download your free copy of our book entitled, "The 10 Biggest Estate Planning Mistakes People Make", you will learn the biggest misconceptions and myths that can have a devastating effect on your

How the Scam Works

In a recent situation, a family believed they were speaking with a funeral home employee handling their loved one's arrangements. They were told a payment issue needed to be resolved quickly.

Trusting the situation, they sent money—only to later learn the person they spoke with didn't actually work for the funeral home.

By then, the funds were gone.

CELEBRITY ESTATE NEWS: Celebrity Estate Planning Horror Stories

Here are some other well-known celebrities who have made some very unfortunate estate planning mistakes.

- Larry King Handwrote a "Secret" Will. Prior to Larry King's passing in January 2021, he had taken the time to put a will in place back in 2015. However, a secret handwritten will from 2019 surfaced, which was written just two months after King filed for divorce from his estranged wife. This handwritten will instructed that his $144 million estate be split equally between his five children, cutting his estranged wife out. Unfortunately for his children, the validity of this handwritten will was called into question, particularly because there was another estate plan already in place.

RESTAURANT RECOMMENDATION: UNICO TOKYO PASTA

If you're in the South Bay and looking to switch up your usual pasta night, Unico Pasta is a must-try. Their menu focuses on wafu pasta—a Japanese take on Italian comfort food—bringing rich, umami-forward flavours to familiar dishes.

Standouts include the savoury Curry Bolognese, the fan-favorite Mentaiko, and indulgent options like Uni Truffle and Uni Ebi. The Spicy Vodka is another crowd-pleaser, and lighter bites like the Koji Cauliflower Soup, Unico Salad, and Burrata Caprese round out the menu nicely.

We did need to ask for the same explanations many times over, and we appreciated their patience. We do believe that they did their due diligence in dealing with the legalities of our case.
